“ My lady that has been a part of my life for 18 years has passed away. My heart is broken I never thought I would ever see the day of us being apart. God called his child and I know you will watch over me and our 2 children. I look back on my life with you and it was simply amazing. You are home now my love and it was an honor to be by your side. Love you now and forever.

“ I met Amy and her daughters, Mazzy and Valentina (who was in a stroller) app. 8 years ago. About a year later I met her husband, Carl, who returned from overseas, whereupon he almost immediately became my closest friend.

Carl and Amy would drive up with the girls and we shared BBQs together, and many many basketball experiences where I trained their amazing children in basketball. Amy was so proud of her daughters. Every time she'd drive to Seattle from Auburn she would watch with such devotion and love, filming many of the moves I would teach them.

Amy was always smiling and whenever we would meet up for a session she and Carl always brought me a huge cornucopia of treats in a shopping bag. But that's how Amy was, always thinking about the other person, ALWAYS giving and never expecting anything in return. She was THE exemplary mother and friend.

I have worked with thousands of kids and parents and Amy and Carl are at the top of the list. Amy and the her daughters would always hug me coming and going from each session. The Olives even volunteered that I come live with them until I found a place during covid when finding housing was a nightmare. I didn't need to bc I fortunately found a place but just the fact they offered was something I will never forget....

I cannot believe her beautiful smile, laugh and soul were taken from this earth so abruptly and prematurely. All of us who had the privilege to know her should HONOR her spirit by being the best people we can each and every day. That's how Amy would have wanted us to live, and that's the precious Gift we can bestow to her amazing Life...

To Amy, Carl, Mazzy and Valentina, my heart breaks for this tragedy. I promise to do whatever I can to help all of you until I too shall pass....

ALL MY LOVE TO THE OLIVES, Coach Gregg

Appreciate your kind words Coach Gregg! She didn't die in vain and her spirit lives on. Mazzy and Valentina will grow up to be productive people and very dominate in the sports arena I will guarantee that.
