

Debra Elaine Crim

March 20, 1954 - June 17, 2024

Debbie Elaine Crim of Omak Washington passed away at Providence Holy Family Hospital in Spokane Washington on June 17, 2024.

Debbie was born March 20, 1954, in Tonasket Washington. She grew up in East Omak with her four siblings Tammy, Diane, Dean and Wayne; raised by their parents Barbara Leavell and Narcisse Nicholson Jr. Debbie was a hard-working single mother who obtained her bachelor's degree while working at Head Start and raising her two daughters Echo and Megan. She changed her work two more times, first to Employment and Training and last to Tribal TANF, but always to a position where she could help people. No matter what she did she always made time for her family. The best part of her day was making her loved ones happy. She loved every moment with her only grandchild Bear Cub, and they made many memories together laughing, talking, and playing. Some of Debbie's hobbies included scrapbooking, reading, diamond art, watching old murder mysteries, giving gifts to all her family, and listening to her great-niece's play in the house. With the love and support of her family and the extra care she received from her eldest daughter Echo and her sister Tammy; Debbie survived cancer three times.

Debbie was preceded in death by her parents Barbara Michaels (Leavell) and Narcisse Nicholson Jr; her two nephews Rigo Nicholson and Chase

Nicholson; her sister Diane Crim; and her brother-in-law Terry Crim. Debbie is survived by her daughters Echo Nicholson-Crim and Megan Crim; her granddaughter Bear Cub Nicholson-Crim; her sister Tammy Nicholson; her brother Dean Nicholson and his wife Cami Nicholson; her brother Wayne Nicholson and his wife Stacie Nicholson; and many cousins, nieces and nephews.
