“ Kurt was my grandfather's logger and eventually mine on the same property. Over the years we became business partners and more importantly friends. He always struck me as trustworthy, honest, and hardworking and definitely knew the logging industry. I know he had a great business venture launching in Vancouver BC area he was getting off the ground and then we were planning to partner again. I will genuinely miss that chance, and more so, Kurt himself.

“ Kurt worked for us at Hamilton Farm Equipment while in high school. He at that young age fit right into our crew.that was not real easy to be a part of..Over the years he would stop by the shop when he was in the area to catch up. One time we were discussing falling trees. He said you can generally never fall a tree uphill, but you can always tip it over sideways. I have taken that advice to heart many times while cutting firewood. Thank you Kurt. In these years since I retired, we were Facebook friends. He followed our travels and commented on occasion. This spring when we were at the boarder crossing between Serbia and Bulgaria I posted a picture of a new logging forwarder. He commended that I should just bring that on home with me for him. I am so sorry for your loss. We are out of town and not able to attend the service. God bless you all during this time. Thinking of you, Wayne Turner
